Entries for Baltimore Bowling Tourney Will Close on March 14 GALLAUDET TO OPEN

George L Iscmann has been successful in gathering a number of teams, many members of which will compete in the coming Baltimore tournament in the singles and doubles. March 25 has been set aside for the Washington bowlers, and in order to make it a "real night" the Capital City should send as many representatives as possible. The following teams have signified their intentions of entering: The Velvet Kinds, Royals, Jeds, Shermans, Parks, Agriculture, Resolutes, Southern Rallway, Brunswicks, Treasury, Chesapeake and Potomac Televing a number of teams, many others.

Isemann, who is working in co-operation with "Johnny" Veath, of Baltimore, would be pleased to have the entries of teams or individuals, so as to complete arrangements as early as possible. The entries of the Baltimore tourney close a great boost for the coming A. C. B. A. tournament to be held here in April, and the officials of the local affair have virtually promised a "Baltimore" night. George L. Isemann has been successful phone Company, National Laundry and Charlottesville, Va., March 6 .- "Out to the stadium" was the order issued by Trainer-Manager Mike Martin to the Griff recruits here this afternoon, and the whole bunch was hustled over to Lambeth Field for the first real work-out since the "rookies" have been in camp.

Although the diamond was in good shape, a freezing wind swept the varsity place, so Trainer Martin had the athletes practice in the "hollow," or lower field, which is nicely sheltered and located due north of the varsity field. The afternoon workout was the first time the boys have drawn on the spiked shoes since arriving in camp, and the increase in speed was easily noticeable.

After batting practice, the players were compelled to circle the bases. Young Milan showed a great deal of speed in getting to the initial sack, and already many of the veterans are claiming that he is faster than his famous brother. When the pitchers were not used on the mound they were sent to the outfield to gather in fly balls.

Barber Hits 'Em Out.

The Capital City fans will recall the ability of Turner Barber, the North Cartolina leaguer, to bust the "old apple" and the lanky outfielder came through to day in great shape, as time and again he hit lifie drives to the fence, which were out of the reach of the fielders. Barber is slow in getting away from the plate, but under the careful coaching of Trainer Martin is expected to gain speed. Gharrity also had his eye on the baß and also bounced them against the fence while most of the hitters had the fielders turning their backs on the stands to chase down long drives.
